Main Page

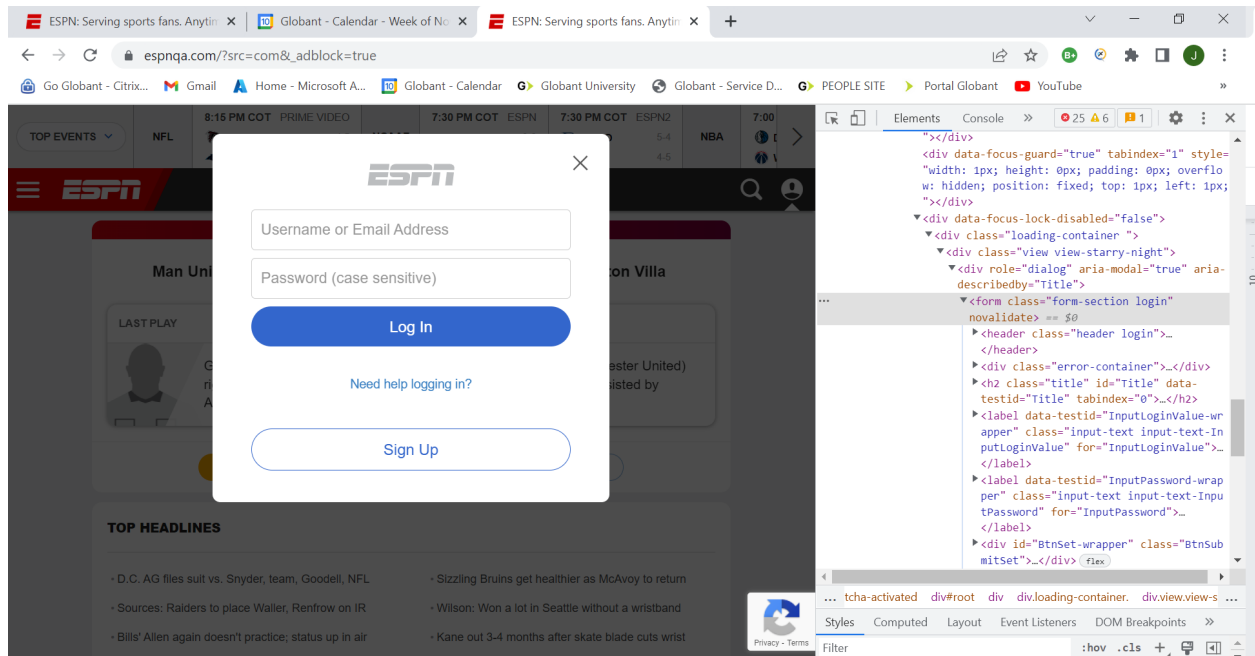

<User button> - Log In

The screenshot shows the ESPN website with the developer tools open. The main content area displays a baseball player in a Yankees uniform. The headline reads: "Passan predicts the MLB offseason: From the big names to know to when stars could actually sign". Below the headline, it says "As free agency officially begins, here are the names, teams and themes that will dominate the hot stove headlines." and "6h • Jeff Passan". There is also a sub-headline: "Nine years, $324 million?! Rankings, contract". The developer tools on the right show the HTML structure of the user button, which is an anchor tag with the following attributes: `id="global-user-trigger", data-route="false", href="#"`. The text of the button is "Sign In".
